

Cornell Cooperative Extension Schuyler County

Annual Meeting

Thursday, December 2, 7:30 a.m.

at the Silver Spoon Café, Human Services Complex, Montour Falls

Full breakfast buffet featuring local foods prepared by CCE staff, short business meeting with election of members to the Board of Directors, and keynote speaker

Dr. Jennifer Wilkins

Sr. Extension Associate, Cornell University's Division of Nutritional Sciences.

Jennifer Wilkins joined the Division of Nutritional Sciences faculty in 1993. She is the Community Coordinator for the Cornell Dietetic Internship Program. Her work focuses on the relationship between food systems, nutrition, and public health. She conceptualized and developed the Northeast Regional Food Guide which promotes healthy, enjoyable diets based on the seasonal diversity of agricultural production in the region.

Local Food for Healthy People and Strong Communities

Local has surpassed organic as a driver of consumer food choices. What is behind the Locavore movement? What does it mean for consumer food choices, diet quality, and community well-being? How can we use interest in local food to enhance public health and strengthen our local economies? Come explore.

$10 per person; Reservations required by November 30
